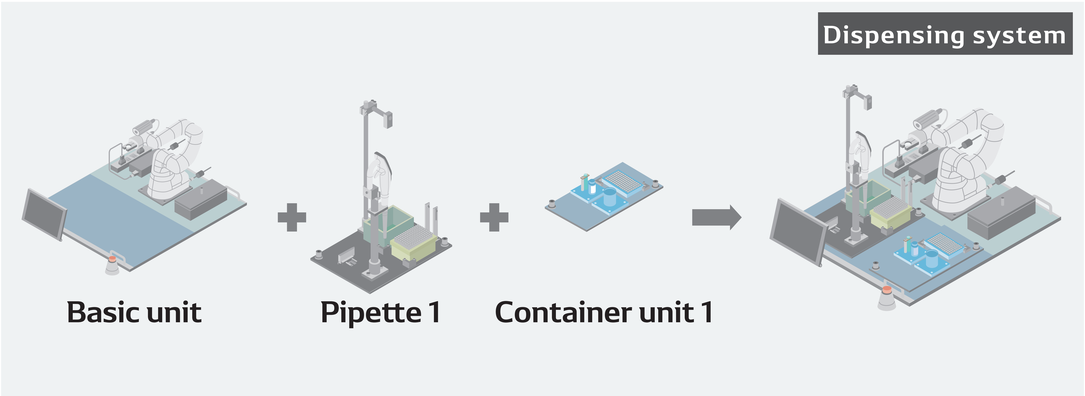
DENSO

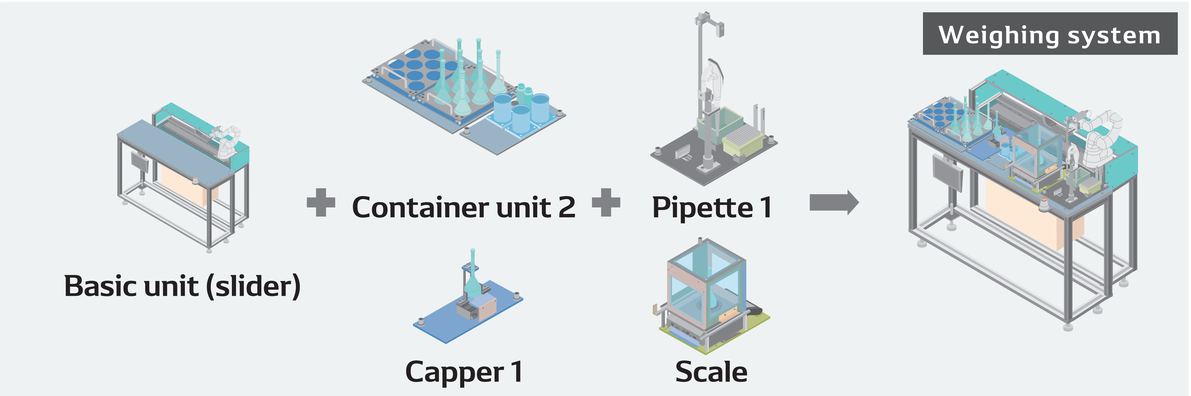
COBOTTA LAB Laboratory Automation

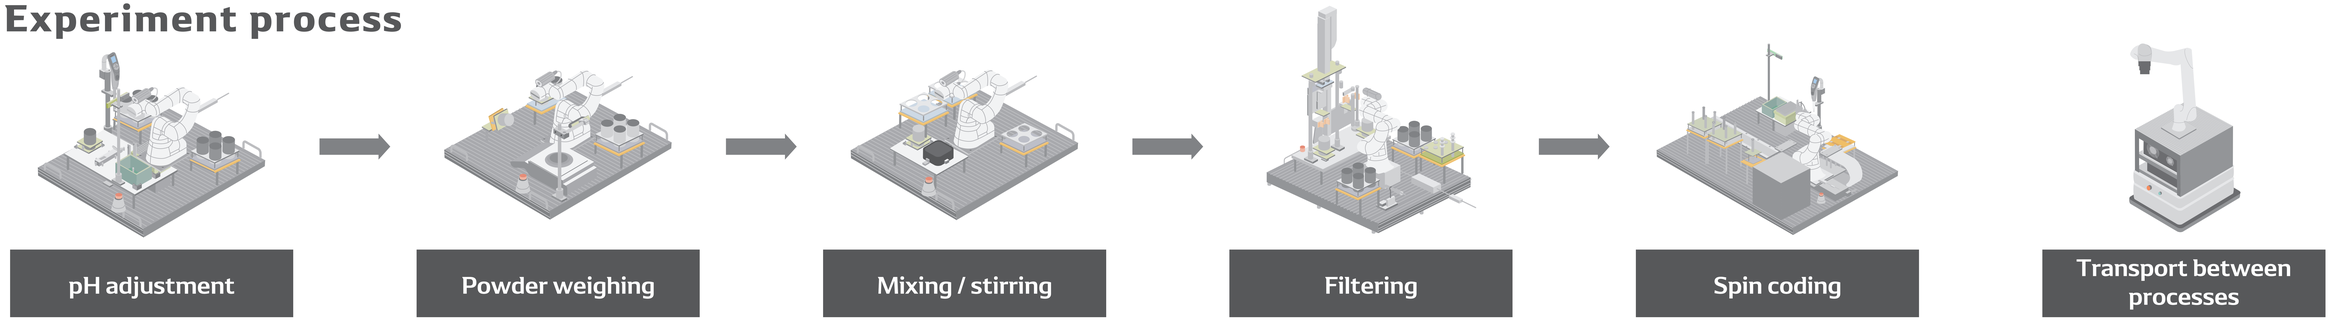
- Link the COBOTTA systems in charge of the weighing, filtering, and dispensing processes with AMR to automate the entire process
- Leave the repetitive work and long hours of analysis and measurement up to robots to enable humans to focus on work with high-added value and improve research productivity.

Compact and Highly-Versatile Modular Automation System

Enables the sale of customized systems that freely add the required modules to the basic unit







Experiment process