

High-powered SP1 handheld scanner plus light-emitting RFID tags enable easy & quick merchandise locating

The combination of the high-powered scanner and the light-emitting RFID tags allows users to find items more efficiently.

SP1 increases sales and customer satisfaction by reducing waiting lines in stores and enhancing efficiency in warehouse operations.

RFID tags can be read from any directions, unlike barcode tags.

Light emitting tags are suitable for being found more efficiently.

DENSO's new SP1 scanner adopts an ergonomic design, making it easy to grip for nearly all users.
